David Chilton's speeches aren't about just money; they're about believing in yourself, overcoming mistakes (many of his are truly hilarious) and, most importantly, they're about perspective – the missing ingredient in many people's financial lives.

David Chilton's recipe for success is a clear vision, hard work, and some clever marketing. Whether it's helping thousands of Canadians achieve personal financial success or investing in low-fat cookbooks, Chilton has always had a knack for recognizing great ventures from the get-go. In his newest incarnation as a "dragon" on CBC TV's Dragons' Den, Chilton proudly leverages that knack, regularly putting his business expertise to work.
