QNET presents:

Redesigning HR

Monday, April 14, 2014 – 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. – Luncheon Presentation

Location: QNET - Suite 660, 175 Hargrave Street, Winnipeg

Most Human Resource (HR) programs were designed in the 1950's industrial era. Sure the programs have been refreshed, re-painted, re-tooled and duct taped, but they are no longer useful in meeting the needs of today's organizations or in keeping up with the rapid pace of business change.

This luncheon session will show you ways HR can be completely redesigned to deliver on business strategy and be a valued contributor at the c-suite table.

Learning objectives:

- Increase HR and organizational performance.
- Shift from reactive to proactive HR.
- Design programs to focus on the future.
- Reduce the risk of legal liability and unnecessary costs.
- Reduce unnecessary administration within HR programs and across the organization.
- Learn award winning and innovative concepts.
