

LEADERSHIP & MANAGEMENT

QNET presents:

Certificate in Leadership Development (CLD)

7 day course - 8:15 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Thursdays – May 8, 15, 22, 29, June 5, 12, 19, 2014

The seven day CLD / Workplace Leadership Course equips you to effectively lead the people who report to you in a workplace environment.

This program is different than any other leadership course. The content is not the usual content. Almost every topic has learning that is unique to this program. Come ready for new ideas that may challenge your conceptions of leadership.

The approach is different too. At this no-nonsense course participation is always welcome, but never required. You will experience an informal atmosphere where leadership is discussed in a practical way that relates to the real world. You can sit back and take it in, or ask questions or comment as much as you want. One thing that is certain – you will come out with a greater understanding of how to lead others.

This course will teach you:

- Why leadership works.
- What leadership really is.
- What qualifies you to be a leader.
- Myths regarding motivation, and what the truth is.
- How authority works, how (and how not) to use it.
- The 4 causes of performance problems and how to identify them.
- The difference between performance and results.
- When (and when not) to discipline.
- To stop expecting HR to do your job.
- How chain of command works, and how it doesn't.
- How to build teams.
- How leaders should communicate.
- How to develop your employees using sense and meaning.
