Drive Workshop

Tuesday, June 14 - 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Location: QNET – Suite 660, 175 Hargrave Street, Winnipeg

Created in collaboration with researcher and author Daniel Pink, the Drive Workshop examines the three elements of true motivation – autonomy, mastery and purpose, and offers smart and surprising techniques for implementing them within your workplace and organization.

The workshop is designed to capture the essence of motivation and employee engagement in an exciting and practical manner. It can change the way your organization operates immediately. The potential of higher levels of engagement, motivation, innovation, change, and reduced turnover is amazing.

“Drive is bursting with big ideas – the rare workshop that will change how you think and transform how you work and live.”

Designed to produce the maximum amount of learning within a compact period of time, the hands-on Drive Workshop uses industry proven examples and case studies to provide strategies, tools and action plans you can implement in your workplace.

This course is for anyone who works in an organization, leads a team, owns or runs a business, is a marketer, communicator, sales professional or other business leader. It is perfect for HR professionals, public servants, business managers, technical professionals and people at all levels of an organization.

At this workshop you will learn how to:

- Develop a greater sense of autonomy, mastery and purpose in your organization.
- Apply scientific research on engagement to overcome the three elements that are holding back performance.
- Adopt and tailor techniques to improve employee engagement and motivation for a multigenerational workforce.
- Align personal and organizational purpose.
- Conduct our own and your team’s continuous personal performance reviews.
