QNET presents:

Building Your Professional Believability

Wednesday, April 25, 2018 – 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. – Luncheon Presentation

Location: QNET - Suite 660, 175 Hargrave Street, Winnipeg

Developing your believability grows you and your organization, creates a positive competitive edge, and increases your reputation. It also builds your confidence and credibility, and establishes you as an industry expert.

Without believability there are lost opportunities. Believability is a significant action that you can cultivate, and it will make a dramatic difference to your profitability and the success of your business and career.

Professional believability is based on your definite believability and reputational believability. Definite believability is one of the key components of becoming an Industry Expert. Reputational believability solidifies your Industry Expert status that helps you gain your competitive edge, drive your influence and impact further.

At this luncheon presentation, you will learn about:

- The impact of definite and reputational believability
- Developing definite and reputational believability for your organization
- Crafting definite and reputational believability best practices and strategies for success
- Putting it together— Your Professional Believability Toolkit
