

LEADERSHIP & MANAGEMENT

QNET presents:

The CORE Advantage

Wednesday, June 5, 2019 – 8:15 a.m. to 4:15 p.m.

Location: QNET – Suite 660, 175 Hargrave Street, Winnipeg

CORE Advantage is an advanced approach to fostering meaningful human interaction and connection. Designed, refined and tried with more than 40,000 people over 25 years, it is built to optimize the quality and efficacy of every professional and/or personal engagement.

Create Connection – Maximize Meaning – Enhance Efficiencies... in Every Moment

This inspiring, highly interactive and practice-oriented training program offers an approach that is portable and adaptable. It provides a simple and profound framework, along with a set of strategies for understanding and approaching all people to create connection, maximize motivation, and enhance efficiencies in interactions.

The CORE Advantage approach does not compete with, compromise or challenge the integrity of other programs or learning models, and is designed to enhance people capacity at all levels.

Learning Outcomes - program participants will learn how to:

- Strengthen relationships and deepen connection immediately
- Build trust faster and sustain it
- Expedite accuracy and clarity on key needs, values, goals and strengths
- Maximize the quality, value and meaning of every interaction
- Eliminate misunderstandings and conflict
- Increase capacity to influence and attain preferred results, and
- Navigate complex situations in less time, with greater success

Core has maximized my capacity to lead with greater results and has enhanced my confidence to manage the most complex situations with an ease that was, at one-time, unimaginable. Efficiencies resulting from CORE offer me more time to get to things I couldn't get to.

Annette Warring, Executive Client President, General Motors

Facilitator: Stephen de Groot, President, Myriad Consulting

Stephen's life's work is all about optimizing human potential toward the best possible outcomes. He has worked with and learned from more than 40,000 of the most amazing and "difficult" populations around the world. His career as a professor of human behavior theory combined with extensive practice experience places him in a unique league; beyond thought leader and more importantly, as a leader of efficient and effective practice. As an author, international speaker, and performance development facilitator, Steve has exceeded expectations with more than 250 organizations world-wide. His training is acclaimed as "among the best and most impactful professional learning experiences ever." Stephen understands and approaches human motivation, performance and preferred behavior change like very few people do. His current mission – to inspire leaders with simple, practical and immediately impactful tools; help them inspire the people they are responsible for; and achieve optimal meaning and performance in every aspect of their work and lives.
